Dutch consultancy bureau Gordian Logistic Experts and Danish consultancy bureau TSMC recently partnered up to become the self-evident provider of Spare Parts Management solutions such as focused-improvement projects, forecasting & inventory services, and adequate technology in the Nordics region.

By entering into a partnership, Gordian and TSMC complement each other and can thus offer their customers a complete service in the field of maintenance and reliability and Spare Parts Management. "I hope the agreement with Gordian will pave the way for more challenging services to new major clients" says Tom Svantesson, CEO at TSMC.

Jürgen Donders, Partner at Gordian: "We see the co-operation with TSMC as a great added value for our organization and a major step forward in the expansion of our activities in the Nordics region. We look forward to working together."

About TSMC:

TSMC is a consultancy company delivering asset management, maintenance and operating services to clients.

TSMC serves customers through three distinct activities, namely maintenance and operation advisory services, training and education. TSMC's vision is to improve the client's performance and sustainability in the market and deliver service to clients in Europa and the Middle East.
